tion all along the river front grows worse hourly. The Wiggins transfer yards are two to ten feet under water. Switchmen stand neck deep to throw switches, and engines push loaded cars with long trains of empties between them and the engine in order to keep in shallow water and prevent the extinguishing of the fires. By the gas-works the bank is caving in and a million bushels of coke are threatened. Arsenal island is washing away. Part of it is gone and more is going. More or less other minor damage is done and is likely to be done. Rivermen insist that the flood of 1883 will be surpassed, and it looks now as if they spoke the truth.

On the east side the situation is bad, too. At Brooklyn two hundred acres of truckpatches are destroyed. Chouteau island 18 under water, thus ruining 3,600 acres of farming land for the season. Carbonet island, fifteen hundred acres, is also under water. Carr island inundated, and the people living in all these places are dependent on the neighboring settlement for shelter. The rise is going on an inch an hour. All the sewers are choked along the levee, and the cellars are full of water. To add to the distress in North St. Louis. two large sewers have been broken by the pressure of back water, and are now aiding to flood that section of town. From all the low points of the city near the river the people are moving to higher ground, and it will be many days before they get back

PREPARING FOR AN ELECTION.

England's Parliament May Be Dissolved June 24-Gladstone Likely to Win. [Copyright, 1892, by the New York Associated Press.] London, May 13 .- Mr. Balfour will meet the Conservative election agents on May 31, when a definite indication will be given of the date of the general election. In the meantime the election agents swarm in the lobbies of the House of Commons, pestering the Ministers, whips and members to expedite the dissolution. A memorial to the government, got up by Tory election agents, urging that Parliament dissolve in the middle of June, fell flat. Only half a dozen members of the House signed it. The whips hinted that the appeal was superfluous and might embarrass the government, which was already favorable to a mid-summer election. The Cabinet decision, when it is annonneed, will find the parties all round fully prepared and everything in readiness. The crown office will dispatch the election writs within twenty-tour hours after the intimation of dissolution is given. The officers in charge of private bills before the House of Commons have been instructed to wind up their business as far as possible by June 24. Reasoning from this fact, the Liberals forecast events thus: The writs will be issued June 28. Two weeks later the burg elections will be completed, and within three weeks the county elections. According to the statutes the new Parliament must assemble within thirtyfive days of the dissolution of the preceding one, so the first week in August, if the general expectation is fulfilled, will see Mr. Gladstone reinstated in power. The Irish party take it for granted that a special session to be held in November will proceed with the home-rule question.

In view of the great increase in the commercial relations between Italy and the United States and the great interest felt in Italy in the Chicago Columbian Exposition, the resumption of full diplomatic relations between the two nations is regarded with special favor by all classes in Italy.

After the Conventions. Kansas City Journal.

When the conventions are over and the tickets are presented for the action of the people, Harrison will still have the advantage. His wise and successful administration has greatly strengthened him. The country has confidence in his judgement and integrity, and knows the government will be safe in his hands, Cleveland will come forward as a defeated candidate-a back number. The people refused to indorse his administration in 1888, and they will not be likely to reverse their decision of that year; there has nothing occurred in the meantime to induce them to do so. The opposition among the Republicans to Harrison is confined to one or two silver States that, as between two anti-free coinage candidates, will prefer the Republican; States whose combined electoral votes will not exceed six or eight, however they may be cast. The Democratic opposition to Cleveland is strongest where he most needs harmonious support. If his party were united for him in New York and Indiana he could view any disaffection in the South or West with a measure of complacency. But in both of these close States the hostility toward him is strong enough to almost insure his defeat.

Harrison will therefore go into both the convention and the after contest with substantially better prospects than Cleveland. The issue, which will be "tariff reform" again, will add to Republican chances. The country is heartily tired of tariff agitation, and will not neglect to say so in November with an emphasis which cannot be mistaken. Little Blue-Eyed Girl and Baby Missing. St. Louis, Mo., May 13.-There is anxiety at the home of Bernard Bruno. The cause of this trouble is the extraordinary disappearance of his daughter Lena, a very pretty little blue-eyed girl of twelve years, and Julius, a two-year-old baby boy. Mr. Bruno is a widower, and Lena has been keeping house for him. She and the baby disappeared some time Wednesday. The first Mr. Bruno knew of it was when he returned home at night. He was greatly distressed. Lena had been somewhat aggrieved at a slight reprimand he had given her a day or two before, and had said, in a joking way, that she would run away with the baby and commit suicide. As no trace of her can be found, it is feared she really jumped into the river and destroyed the life of the child with her own.

An Army of Caterpillars. RALEIGH, N. C., May 13.-The caterpillars, which a year ago showed themselves in such large numbers along the southern border of the State as to delay trains on the North Carolina Central railroad, have again appeared. The trains have again killed many, put the vast body has marched into Columbus, Bladen and Robeson counties. Reports made by correspondents of the State Agricultural department say the caterpillars have stripped the forest of all the leaves, and are now moving slowly westward. They are much more numerous than they were last year. So far as reported they have not attacked the crops. Losses by Fire.

BOSTON, May 13.-Judge Nelson, of the United States District Court, to-day quashed the indictment found against the Whisky Trust officials-Joseph B. Greenhat and others. This is the first indictment found by the District Court grand jury that the court passed upon. An indictment was found against these same defendants Tnesday last, which is supposed to cover the defects that existed in the one now quashed. The officials will be rearrested on the second one. The Better Way. Republicans, instead of trying to defeat Harrison, can better afford to turn their attention to ways of defeating the Democratic candidate for President.

Yes, and Glad of the Chance. The people want Harrison, and the politicians of the Republican party will wisely fall in with the procession.

The aunt declines to have anything whatever to do see what I can show you for very little money. with Pearl, assigning as a reason the fact of her father being a convict. The board of managers of the Orphans' Home declined to receive her because they feared she would demoralize the other children. Mrs. Buchanan will make an effort to have her received at the Home of the Good Shepherd or by the Board of Children's Guardians. Pearl's case seems to be an extremely sad one. An innocent child of nine years the victim of ber father's terrible crime, she finds herself without a home, deserted by her friends and relatives, and shunned as if she were a felon.
